I KNOW AN OLD LADY WHO WANTED A SALAD

Createspace Independent Publishing Platform, United States, 2015. Paperback. Book Condition: New. Large Print. 279 x 216 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .I Know an Old Lady Who Wanted a Salad (2nd ed.) is designed to teach children ages 7-11 about growing a vegetable garden, healthy eating, and sharing with others. Children learn about the garden cycle-planning, preparing the soil, planting, taking care of the plants, harvesting, cooking the food, and sharing it with others. The book is bilingual, designed to teach English or Spanish vocabulary about the garden. Based on the song made famous by Burl Ives, I Know an Old Lady Who Swallowed a Fly, this story can be sung to the same tune, helping children learn through seeing the pictures, studying the vocabulary, and singing the song. At the end of the book is a list of vegetables, both those in the story and others, numbers, colors, and a dictionary of nouns, verbs, and adjectives from the story, in English and Spanish. Recipes for soup and salad are also included in both languages. Written by an emeritus professor of education and illustrated by Kelly Hollenbeck, age 15, the drawings in the high desert context make the story vivid for young readers. The story was written to teach children English vocabulary about the vegetable garden at Los Ricos de Abajo Escuela Primaria, a small, rural school near San Miguel de Allende, Mexico. The school garden is grown to supplement lunches provided by Feed the Hungry, a non-profit organization that builds kitchens in impoverished schools in and around San Miguel, as well as to teach children to grow their own food. All profits from I Know an Old Lady Who Wanted a Salad benefit Feed the Hungry, which serves over 4000 students each school...
